

Licensed Domestic Violence Treatment Providers

As of 08/03/2015 - Information Taken from the Department of Human Services - Licensing Division and <http://hslc.utah.gov/db-search/> . The agencies herein are not endorsed by the Utah State Courts, but are offered as possible resources for those seeking domestic violence treatment. Some counties may have centralized domestic violence intake through DCFS. Please contact the domestic violence program coordinator at valeriep@utcourts.gov or your local DCFS office with questions. Agencies in bold have a contract with DCFS. See bottom of sheet for note about DCFS providers.

Agency names in bold lettering are contract providers with the Division of Child and Family Services (DCFS). With prior authorization from the regional DCFS DV specialist, DCFS can subsidize the cost of offender evaluation and intervention services, and victim/child supportive services at these agencies. Victim services are free. DCFS contracted providers can no longer do evaluation and treatment at the same facility. The evaluations with DCFS providers are portable and will be honored at any other provider.									¹ Other services come from the provider's own report. They may offer additional services not mentioned on this form. Individuals are encouraged to verify availability of services independently.
 Utah County DCFS offers an intake and referral service with regular reports on completion of treatment and maintains lists of facilities that provide assessments and treatment.
